COOK ISLANDS

- COOK ISLANDS -

Located 2,956 miles south of Hawaii and 2,008 miles north-east of New Zealand, the Cook Islands, comprising fifteen islands, three uninhabited, are scattered across some 869,000 square miles of the South Pacific Ocean.

The Cook Islands, with a population of around 16,000, is split into two chains of islands - the northern group consisting of Manihiki, Penrhyn, Rakahanga, Pukapuka, Nassau and Suvarrow are our most remote and untouched coral atolls. The southern group islands include the capital Rarotonga, Aitutaki, Atiu, Mauke, Mitiaro, Mangaia, Manuae, Palmerston and Takutea.

The weather is tropical all year round, with two seasons. The dry season runs from April to November, and the wet season from December to March. The climate is pleasantly warm, with an average daily temperature of 26 degrees.

Each island in the Cook Islands is unique and can be differentiated by their land formations and landscapes, distinct dialects, history, culture and traditions. What they all share in common nonetheless is the hospitality and warmth of their people, and the endless opportunities to experience and explore their natural environments.

The Cook Islands share the same time zone as Hawaii (USA), and with Hawaiian Airlines flying direct from Honolulu to Rarotonga, brings another connection for our friends from the northern hemisphere to visit.

From 20th May 2023, Hawaiian Airlines (Airbus A321neo) will fly a weekly service departing Honolulu on Saturdays at 1600hrs, arriving Rarotonga at 2225hrs the same day. The return flight to Honolulu departs Rarotonga on Sunday at 2335hrs, arriving Honolulu at 0550hrs Monday morning.

This brochure provides you with a collection of 8-night packages specifically developed to work with these direct flights. Choose between spending 8 nights on Rarotonga only, or stay 5 nights on Rarotonga before flying across to Aitutaki for 3 nights. Couples looking for an extra special romantic getaway should take advantage of our exclusive 4 nights Rarotonga and 4 nights Aitutaki combination.

On arrival into Rarotonga, our team will meet you at the airport with a fresh flower ei (lei), and a chilled bottle of water. We will also brief you on the details of your holiday package and travel itinerary while you are here in the Cook Islands.

We look forward to welcoming you to our small slice of heaven.
